

LEGAL SYMPOSIUM

People, Planet & Profit

FAIR PARK – DALLAS TX • APRIL 21-23 • 150,000+ EXPECTED

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT?

Public concern with environmental protection and compliance with environmental laws are key factors that affect the decision-making and behavior of the nation's business community. The Legal Symposium – “People, Planet, and Profit” – brings together leading legal scholars and subject matter experts from environmental organizations, business, academia, and the government for what is expected to be a lively discussion of fundamental issues with broad ramifications for those affected by and interested in sustainability and environmental law.

WHY PARTICIPATE?

This symposium is a truly unique opportunity to hear a series of discussions of environmental thought leaders, with diverse perspectives, on legal issues relevant to charting a course for a future that is both protective and productive. Topics include the impact of science on regulatory decision making, the tension between energy needed for economic development and protection of public health and the planet, options for environmental dispute resolution, and corporate initiatives in sustainability beyond compliance. Scott Pruitt, the current administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, will be a keynote speaker and talk about the objectives and goals of the new administration. To see a complete list of speakers and moderators, please visit the website at earthdaytx.org/legal-symposium.

PRE-REGISTER TODAY!

This is a fee-based program of legal education and the registration fee is $300. The Adolphus Hotel offers a reduced rate for attendees of the Legal Symposium.
